

Transport Policy and Planning Scholarship Awardee

• 2011-2012 •

Wu Juanyu

It has always been my dream to pursue this master programme and being awarded the scholarship is definitely a further encouragement and motivation for me to join MATPP. What I gained from this intensive course is not only the practical knowledge on transport policy and planning, but also the people network by getting to know classmates working in different areas of transport and logistics. The course also provides precious opportunity for us to deepen our knowledge in specific areas through the dissertation module, from which I gained much independent research skills. I feel lucky to be a member of MATPP.

Nancy Wu (Full-time), graduated in 2010

Department of Geography, The University of Hong Kong